REFERENCE WORKS ONLINE

Well-known major dictionaries and encyclopedias are normally cited in notes but not the Bibliography. The facts of publication are often omitted. Because online reference works are subject to continuous updates, edition numbers are omitted but the access date will indicate the timeliness of the source citation. Refer to the item preceded by s.v. (sub verbo, “under the word”). Include the author of the entry, if given. If a permanent link for an item is given, list it. Otherwise give the search URL.

PERIODICALS ONLINE

There are several types of periodicals online. There are unique electronic periodicals with no parallel print version (as below). They are also the electronic formats of print periodicals - either in the identical, scanned format (PDF) or an edited format (HTML). Exact pagination will usually be available for PDF format only. For the Bibliography, list inclusive pages if given.
